The Initial Precursor and Distal Precursor nodes are assessed in the emergent writing testlet in Grade 9-10 with four other Essential Elements: ELA.EE.W.9-10.2.a, ELA.EE.W.9-10.2.b, ELA.EE.W.9-10.2.c, and ELA.EE.W.9-10.2.f. The Proximal Precursor, Target and Successor nodes are assessed in the conventional writing testlet in Grade 9-10 with one other Essential Element: ELA.EE.L.9-10.2.c.

Initial Precursor and Distal Precursor Linkage Level Relationships to the Target

How is the Initial Precursor related to the Target?

Selecting domain-specific words when writing about a selected topic requires students to understand how words relate to specific domains. Students can work toward this understanding by focusing on words within categories and subcategories. In the context of writing, students can work on this by selecting a topic as usual and then generating ideas to write about. Before writing, teachers can help them identify the categories and subcategories of words related to the topic. For example, a student might choose to write about a favorite movie. Then, the student works with the teacher to select or generate ideas for writing that include lists of characters and things that happen in the movie. Those things can then be sorted into categories (e.g., characters) and subcategories (e.g., adults and children).

How is the Distal Precursor related to the Target?

Successful writing requires the writer to know something about the topic. When students are familiar with the topics they choose, they can begin to generate domain-specific words related to the topic. In the context of writing, teachers can work with students to select from a range of familiar topics and generate or identify domain-specific words related to the topic that they might write about.
